[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 9.—With appetites whetted by the recent world's championship match between Willie Hoppe and George F. Slosson, students of the cue sport are on edge in anticipation of the opening of the great international billiard tournament in Madison Square Garden tonight. Six of the greatest masters of the cue and balls will figure in the tournament. They are George F. Slosson, Jacob Schaefer, Orlando Morningstar, George Sutton, Louis Cure and Albert Cutler. The game will be at 18 1/2 ball line, a style of play that is more interesting to watch than the more difficult 15 1/2. The seven entries mean that twenty-one games will be played, which will require ten days, without making allowance for the play-off of possible ties. The games will be 500 points up, and the winner will receive a gold and silver trophy worth $1,000, emblematic of the world's championship at 18 1/2 billiards. There will be, in addition, cash prizes to the value of $2,500, which will be divided 50 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent and 15 per cent to the second and third, respectively.

KING LEOPOLD IS SEVENTY-ONE TODAY

Unpopular Ruler of Belgium Reaches Advanced Age in Good Health and Very Active.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Brussels, April 9.—King Leopold, whose eyesight has improved sufficiently to permit him to resume active work in connection with the government of his kingdom and the management of his colossal financial ventures, was 71 years old today. So far as the public was concerned the day passed without observation, the only recognition of the anniversary being a closing of the government offices and the display of flags on public buildings. Despite the unsavory reputation of the king because of his financial transactions and his moral shortcomings, everyone both within and without his domains gives him credit for his abilities as an executive and a diplomat and for his tireless energy. At three-score and ten King Leopold is as active as he was at 50. He has retained his health and an amount of youthful vigor and energy quite remarkable for a man of his age. The somewhat unusual arrangement of his everyday life—being an almost equal intermingling of physical exercise and intellectual labor—suits the king because he works rapidly and makes prompt decisions. This, added to his encyclopedic range of knowledge, enables him to perform in two hours an amount of work that the employees of his household, as they themselves acknowledge, would take a day to accomplish.

POWERFUL CRUISER MAKES TRIAL TRIP

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The armored cruiser Washington has left Newport News for her official trial trip, which takes place this week on the Rockland (Me.) course. The Washington and her sister ship, the Tennessee, are the two most powerful vessels of their type on this side of the Atlantic and the navy department is much interested in the showing that will be made by the Washington on her trial trip. The Washington was constructed by the New York Shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J., and is the first big war vessel built by that firm. Her length on water line is 592 feet; breadth at load water line, 72 feet 10 1/2 inches; displacement, 14,500 tons; mean draught on trial displacement, 23 feet; coal bunker capacity, 2,000 tons; the steaming radius at ten knots will be 6,500 knots; steaming radius at full speed, about 3,100 knots. The armor plate protection ranges from nine inches for the turret to five inches for the belt. The cruiser will have a very heavy armament. The main battery will consist of four ten-inch guns and sixteen eight-inch guns. The secondary battery will have twenty-three three-inch rapid fire guns, twelve three-pounder automatic and two one-pounder rapid-fire guns, two three-inch field pieces, two machine guns of 30 calibre, and six automatic guns of 30 calibre. The propelling engines are of the vertical, twin-screw, four-cylinder, triple-expansion type of a combined indicated horsepower of 25,000. The steam pressure will be 250 pounds and the stroke four feet. The engines are located in two separate water-tight compartments. The arrangement of quarter provides ample accommodations for the following complement: One commanding officer, one flag officer, one chief of staff, nineteen ward-room officers, twelve junior officers, ten warrant officers, 814 men, including sixty marines, a total of 968. The ship probably will be placed in commission early next winter.

MORSE INTERNATIONAL AGENCY
 On and After April 1st, 1906, the Corporation of the Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency has been known as the Morse International Agency.

This agency had its beginning over sixty years ago and constituted a special form of business activity in newspaper advertising which had but newly developed through the commercial conditions existing then. It was founded by S. M. Pettengill in 1849, and met with success from the start. Mr. J. H. Bates was early admitted to partnership and the name of S. M. Pettengill & Company became proverbial as the leading advertising agency in the United States. After many years of the firm's unaltered success, Mr. Bates in 1896 bought out the entire interest of Mr. Pettengill, thus becoming sole owner of this large business; but the firm name continued as J. H. Bates until January 1, 1898, when Mr. Lyman D. Morse, who had been active with Mr. Bates for a number of years, became partner in the concern and caused the firm style to be changed to Bates & Morse.

After two years of partnership with Mr. Bates, Mr. Morse became the sole owner of the business and the name of the firm changed to the Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency.

On March 1, 1898, H. Henry Douglas became the partner of Mr. Morse and so continued until the latter's death on March 6, 1901.

On April 1, 1901, the firm was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York with the same name—Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency—and with the following officers:

H. Henry Douglas, President.
 Irving M. Dewey, Vice-President and Treasurer.

G. Howard Harmon, Secretary.
 The Lyman D. Morse Advertising Agency, therefore, being the oldest establishment of its kind in America and having, through its large clientele and progressive development wide international connections, it is believed expedient to adapt it in name to its enlarged sphere of operation by changing its business style to the Morse International Agency, 33 Park Row, New York.

Owing to the increase of business, necessitating larger offices, the corporation will move its offices on May 1st to the Revillon Building, 19 West 34th Street, New York.

THE PHILIPPINE
BILL LAID OVER

WILL NOT BE TAKEN UP IN SENATE FOR SOME WEEKS.

AFTER RAIL RATE MEASURE

Then Lodge Will Move Committee Be Discharged of Further Consideration.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Washington, D. C., April 9.—During the debate on the railroad rate bill in the Senate today, the bill was laid over until after the disposition of that measure he would move to discharge the Committee on the Philippines from further consideration of the Philippine tariff bill. It has been rumored all along that Mr. Lodge would follow this course ever since the bill was so badly beaten in the committee.

The Philippine bill was injected into the proceedings of the Senate by Senator Stone, one of the democratic members of the Philippine committee, who announced that he would be obliged to go to St. Louis on important business the latter part of the week and would be away some days. "It has been currently reported through the senate that at some early day the senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Lodge, may in some way bring what is known as the 'Philippine Tariff bill' before the senate," said Mr. Stone, who it will be remembered was one of those who voted against reporting the bill to the senate from the Philippine committee. Continuing, Mr. Stone said: "That might be done during my absence, and as I am a member of that committee, I should like to submit some views upon the general subject of that bill. While the bill is now before the senate, I thought that on tomorrow (Wednesday) I would offer a resolution that would make a basis for saying what I desire to say. I ask the senate to allow me that privilege on Thursday morning, immediately after the routine business has been concluded."

At this point Senator Lodge arose and said that as Senator Stone had referred to the Philippine bill, he desired to say that at the proper time he would make a motion to discharge the committee from the further consideration of that bill. "That is the only method open to me of taking the sense of the senate as to whether that proposed legislation shall be considered at all by the senate this session," Mr. Lodge continued. "But I have no intention of making that motion while the railroad rate bill is pending, or of doing anything that would interfere with the consideration of that important legislation which ought to be disposed of at once. My own judgment is that the senator could go to St. Louis with perfect assurance that that motion will not be made before his return, unless he is gone for a considerable length of time. I have no intention of making that motion until the rate bill is disposed of, and of that the senator, I am sure, will have ample notice."

Senator Stone then withdrew his notice that he would speak on the bill on Thursday. "In view of the statement of the senator from Massachusetts that the motion is not likely to be made for several weeks,"

Senator Hale, of Maine, who is opposed to the legislation, took part in the discussion to say: "The senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Lodge, has left the question, which may arise later, about the Philippine tariff bill, I think, just right. I am entirely willing to leave that to his discretion, considering the business of the senate. He will not make the motion, I take it, to discharge the committee, and bring the bill before the senate until there has been conference about it and ample notice that he is ready to do so."

Senator Lodge closed the discussion in the following manner:

"I do not want to be misunderstood. I have no intention of making the motion to discharge the Philippine Committee from the consideration of the tariff bill while the rate bill is pending. When the rate bill is disposed of, I shall then make the motion, but, of course, under the rules, that motion has to go over for a day. I am glad to take this opportunity of giving what may be a somewhat protracted notice, that when the rate bill is out of the way, I shall take occasion to make the motion to which I have referred."

Senator Stone did not indicate when he would address the senate on the Philippine tariff bill, and it is understood he will not do so for some weeks to come.

Revenue Bureau.

The Internal Revenue Bureau announces the decision of the U. S. circuit court of appeals, 2nd circuit, in the case of the United States vs. Fifty Cigars, in which it is held that when property seized for forfeiture was released on bond, the seizure of the property under the Statutes and judgment entered on the bond without actual notice to surety, the absence of such notice did not affect the validity of the judgment.

The case is an appeal by Betty Black, one of the claimant's sureties on a bond for value, given pursuant to section 3459 of the Revised Statutes from a summary judgment entered against the surety after verdict rendered in favor of the United States forfeiting the goods. On September 25, 1903, the collector of internal revenue seized the goods, 59,650 cigars, under the authority conferred on him by section 3453. Three days later the bond was executed and the following day the information was verified and on September 30, motion issued to the marshal who on the same day attached the property which he found in the hands of the collector. The claimant applied to the court presenting the bond and asking for the delivery of the cigars, as the same are attached by the marshal. Thereupon the court ordered that they be delivered to the claimant. The court says that the only thing raised is that the notice of the pendency of the proceedings in court to forfeit the property seized should have been given to the surety by personal service or publication. The only notice given was to the attorney for the claimant. The appellant relied upon the following provision in the section of the Revised Statutes quoted:

"In case said bond shall have been executed, and the property returned before the seizure thereof by virtue of the process aforesaid, the marshal shall give notice of pendency of proceedings in court to the parties executing said bond by personal service of publication, and in such manner and form as the court may direct, and the court shall thereupon have jurisdiction of said matter and parties in the same manner as if such property had been seized by virtue of the process aforesaid."

The court says the "process aforesaid" is the process of the court, the "motion" commanding the marshal to attach and obtain the property. In conclusion the court says: "The provision above quoted is inapplicable. Had the collector returned them before seizure by the marshal the provision above quoted would have applied, but since it is manifest that they were actually seized by virtue of the motion before they were returned, personal service of notice was unnecessary, the proceeding being 'in rem.' The judgment of the district judge is affirmed."

Some Reports.
 The Bureau of American Republics is authority for the statement that the tobacco crop of the Republic of Mexico in the year 1906 is expected to reach 11,500,000 kilograms, furnished from the following districts:

District	Kilos.
San Andres Tuxtla	1,500,000
Acayucan-Tehuacan	345,000
Cordoba	2,500,000
Tlaxiaco	1,725,000
Tepec	1,725,000
Ojutlan, Valle Nacional	1,140,000
Playa Vicente	1,150,000
Ojeca-Oaxaca and Chiapas	575,000
San Luis Potosi districts	230,000

Other Countries.
 A report to the Bureau of American Republics by the British acting consul-general at Havana, Cuba, states that the cultivation of the tobacco plant under cheese cloths has, up to the present time, been carried on upon a comparatively small scale, but the results are said to be generally satisfactory. Continuing the report says:

"According to information published by the Secretary of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce, 166.65 acres cultivated under cheese cloth produced, in 1903, 10 bales of wrappers and 15 bales of filling per acre, the output under the old system having been 4.5 bales of tobacco per acre, of which only 10 per cent represented wrappers of good color. The leaves were from 28 to 32 inches long and from 14 to 16 inches wide. The number of leaves per pound varied between 150 of first-class and 384 of the most inferior class, the average being 272. The cost per acre, according to an official report based on information gathered from 18 estates in the Province of Pinar del Rio, and representing a total area cultivated under cheese cloth of 525 acres, was from $419.57 to $209.29, the average being $295.03. The results are well worth the extra cost, and the areas under this system of cultivation are increasing. Each plant produced from 14 to 15 leaves, and the number of leaves per pound was 322. Sixty per cent of the output was wrapper and 40 per cent an inferior class of tobacco."

"The results obtained from the cultivation of the tobacco plant under cheese cloth are said to be: (1) The production of a leaf lighter in color and weight; (2) the leaf is thinner and more translucent and the stem is finer; (3) it possesses less nicotine, gummy, and resinous substances; (4) the tobacco does not lose its flavor. The price of wrappers ranges from $80 per bale of 130 pounds to $300 per bale of 125 pounds, and of fillers from $25 per bale of 100 pounds to $60. The method of planting most in use is to allow 30 centimeters (about 12 inches) between the rows, and from 50 centimeters (20 inches) to 100 centimeters (40 inches) between the roots of the plants. The number of plants, however, to an acre varies considerably, according to the fertility of the soil, and no estimate which would be of any practical utility can be formed of the actual area under cultivation."

EASTER LEGENDS
FOR LITTLE FOLK

THE EASTER EGG, THE RABBIT AND LILLIES DESCRIBED.

ANCIENT MYTHS RELATED

New Significance of the Pre-Christian Era's Festivals—Peculiar Rites.

Next Sunday is Easter, the greatest feast in the Christian world. While Christmas is devoted to the giving of gifts Easter also has its gift-giving and its customs. Eggs, rabbits and flowers appear to be the accepted Easter emblems and many quaint and curious customs of the origin of this custom are found in old musty books. Belle Blend in writing for the Milwaukee Sentinel has gathered some of them into shape for ready reading and they are reprinted for the benefit of the Gazette readers who may be interested to know of the ancient customs that antedate the Christian Rites.

The Hare.
 Herr Oster Hase is here. From the windows he nods a cheerful greeting to the children who stand in front of the confectioner's store and clap their hands, and shout in glee, because they know that on Easter morning, a week from yesterday, this good rabbit will leave a nest full of colored eggs, and perhaps they will be guarded by a cute little hare, like those in the window. Why is it that the little boys and girls associate the hare with Easter?

A long time ago, before the birth of Jesus, men and women, as well as the children, believed in fairies and goblins, and gods and goddesses, enchantments and magic, and power of witchcraft to change the form into any desired shape. In those days before they heard of the existence of God, they worshipped and prayed to the sun, the moon, and the stars. The moon goddess was, also, the goddess of spring and the people loved her. Her name was Dostre and each spring a great festival was held in her honor, as the people believed, that this goddess could make the crops grow, the berries ripen and the grain to bear abundantly. She typified the new life, asleep in the seeds and the leaves.

Was a Goddess.
 As she was a goddess, she had the powers of enchantment and of magic, and it pleased her sometimes to take the form of a hare and ramble about on the earth and learn about the conditions here. She would see if her people were good, and if they deserved to have an abundant crop. The hare is fond of nocturnal rambling, and like the moon, is busiest at night; so those old time men and women, who were not as wise as the children of this generation, thought that they were identical. In all ancient nations of men a festival to the goddess was celebrated at the spring solstice.

The oldest Anglo-Saxon author, Bede, writing of this festival celebrated by the Teutonic nations, said: "April was named after the goddess Dostre, and this month was the same as Mensis Paschalis, when the old festival was observed with the gladness of a new solemnity."

Brought Customs.
 When the Christians came to England and to Germany, to tell the pagans of the true God, they did not make them give up all of their old ways, but they associated the festival with the new religion, and told them not to hold a carnival to the false goddess, but to the true God, which they did and after the religion had grown the new festival identified with the old. The Jews have a religious festival held in the spring, called the Paschal festival, and the Easter egg is traced back to this feast, when the Pasch egg, typical of life, was eaten.

Eggs Colored.
 So the customs were amalgamated, and eggs were colored red, to remind the people that Christ had died for them, and the children, finding a nest of colored eggs, thought that the hare had brought them. The remnants of the customs of bygone days have become an interesting and pleasure-giving pastime for the little boys and girls, who know that the genial Herr Oster did not bring the eggs; but they love to think that he did, and they hunt with zest and anticipation for the nest in the hidden someplace near that will add to their treasures.

Some little children wonder how the eggs happen to be red and a good old grandmother, who tells fairy tales so beautifully, said that long ago a little wren built a nest near the Saviour's tomb in a rose tree. In the nest were four tiny eggs and she sat on them all day long, expecting some day to see four little birds peep out. Suddenly, one day, a terrific sound like the clap of thunder sounded over her head. She started forward, and as she did so a thorn pierced her breast and the red blood falling down upon the eggs colored them red. When the apostles came the next morning to see the grave of Jesus, they found the tomb empty, and also, the little bird dead. The roses on the tree had been white, but after that they were always red, and ever since that time, little children have red eggs at Easter.

Eggs have been used by many nations in the celebration of the spring feast, and have always been the subject of poetical myths and legends. The ancient Egyptians believed that a mystic bird laid an egg which fell into the water and broke. The lower portion formed the earth, the upper the sky and the liquid white became the sun, the yolk the moon, and the small pieces of shell the stars. At the feast of the Passover Jewish women were wont to place hard boiled eggs on a table prepared for the purpose, as emblematic of their departure from Egypt.

Long ago the Romans, who also had eggs at the spring festival, had a game by which the eggs were knocked together, and whichever broke, became the property of the one who had effected the damage. Men and women indulged in this feat hundreds of years ago, but now in the present time the children of the United States enjoy the same thing when they gather on the lawn of the White house, to take part in the traditional egg-rolling. The game is now called "picking." Two youngsters stand up together, and one picks at the other's egg, until the shell is damaged and then it becomes the property of the other.

Flowers.
 When the children go to church on Easter morning they notice the abundance of flowers there and often in the homes the lilies, hyacinths, and palms are used for decorating. A legend of the origin of this custom is pretty, if not wholly correct. After the crucifixion a good and holy monk found the crown of thorns that had been placed upon the head of Jesus by the cruel men who took his life. He picked it up and carried it to the monastery where he lived, and the other monks who lived there, too, looked at it sorrowfully. They placed it on the altar in the chapel. On Easter morning they went in to say the mass, and the monk who had found the crown found the chapel perfumed with the sweetest of fragrance. Looking over to where the crown of thorns had lain he saw a garland of white flowers.

SEEKS TO RECOVER A
PURSE LOST IN 1888

Miss Marian Mitchell Claims Wallet Found in Woodshed Belonged to Her Mother.

Miss Marian J. Mitchell has commenced an action against J. W. Langdon in Justice Earle's court for the recovery of a purse containing $60. The same was lost by the late Mrs. Mitchell on the premises at the corner of Milwaukee and Academy streets in the year 1888, and the little child of the defendant alleged to have recently found it among some old papers in the woodshed. Mr. Langdon is apparently not satisfied that the property lost in 1888 and that discovered by the child are identical.

MINING NOTES

The Baxter mine south of Platteville is installing extra additional rigs. Twenty cars of ore, eighteen of jack and two of lead have been shipped since the middle of January, and at present only three bins for ore are empty.

Some fine ore was taken from the Liverpool last week. Machinery for the Slack mine is being hauled to the site. James Harris, Frank Baack and A. G. Wilkinson of Janesville were in Mineral Point last week attending a meeting of the company.

Several Janesville people inspected the Homestead mine Friday. Milwaukee and Janesville parties have taken hold of the proposition on the N. J. Kieffer land, west of Mineral Point, and will begin operations soon. The land is located but a short distance from the Hazel Patch and Tripoli mines.

MR. AND MRS. M. D. TAYLOR SURPRISED BY MANY FRIENDS

Saturday night about forty of the neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Taylor pleasantly surprised them at their home, No. 52 Pease Court. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor expect to leave the city soon for Rochelle, Ill., where Mr. Taylor has accepted the position of superintendent of the Rochelle Manufacturing Co. At six-thirty a delicious supper was served. On behalf of the company Arnold Caniff presented Mrs. Taylor with a set of silver teaspoons and in a few well chosen words expressed the regret of the company at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and extended their best wishes for the future. After a very pleasant evening the company dispersed.

Dr. W. A. Clark, who is attending Attorney General Hadley in Kansas City, said yesterday that the Missouri official has not had any symptoms of pneumonia or typhoid fever and absolutely no indications of a nervous breakdown from overwork.

The last week of the Gazette diamond contest begins with a grand total of nearly two hundred thousand votes. It lacked only about four thousand of this enormous total when the votes for Saturday were all in and everything points to at least a hundred thousand more in the final tally this week.

The chances for success of each of the leaders is being discussed in thousands of homes as the bulletin, tells from day to day the story of their varying fortunes and it is doubtful if ever a similar contest gave rise to more conjecture or discussion as to what the final outcome would be. The uncertainty of it even at this late date is probably responsible for a part of the lively interest which is being shown in the balloting and the unusual value of the trophies also plays a part. But it is largely to the wide

The Gazette diamonds are to be awarded to the lady and gentleman having the largest number of votes at the close of the contest, and the flags to those having the second largest number, for presentation to the society or organization which they may select. A committee of representative citizens will be named to canvass the vote at the close of the balloting and make the awards. The polls will close at 8 o'clock p. m., Monday, April 16, 1906.

Costume of Lady Choristers.
A most becoming costume is worn in church by the lady choristers of St. Clement's church, Mosman, a suburb of Sydney. It consists of a simple black skirt, a plainly made liberty silk blouse, with a muslin collar, and a bishop's lawn surplice.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON THE WORST DISEASE IN THE WORLD

Contagious Blood Poison is the worst disease in the world; not only those who contract it suffer, but the awful taint is often transmitted to innocent offspring whose lives are blighted and bodies diseased because the virus of Contagious Blood Poison has been allowed to remain in the family blood. The first sign of this disease is usually a little pimple or blister, then a red rash breaks out, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the limbs, back and breast; and as the disease more thoroughly pollutes the blood, sores and ulcers form and the trouble is not checked the finger nails drop off, and the soft bones of the nose and head are destroyed. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and forces out every particle of the poison and makes a complete and lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of the remedy the symptoms begin to pass away, and when the cure is complete the patient is left in perfect health. So thoroughly does S. S. S. rid the system of the virus that no signs of the disease are ever seen in after years, and posterity is born with a rich, pure blood supply. Book with complete instructions for home treatment and any medical advice desired will be given without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

It will soon be circus season and the small boys' delight.

How about that Lake Geneva post-office scandal? Was it all wind?

When a man buys a horse it is always safe to look well to his heels.

It will soon be time for the "reform" republican club to formally make its bow to the public.

That idea of booming Spooner for president has appealed to many papers throughout the state.

There is no question but congress will pass some sort of a rate legislation this winter or rather this session.

Madison saloon men are urgent in forming a Sunday closing agreement so they may have one day of rest.

The outlook for a prosperous year by the farmers is very good. Good prices for products are promised.

Spring fever appears to be prevalent in many households, particularly about the time of spring house cleaning.

It will soon be time for the new council to decide who will be their men Fridays in the street and health departments.

There may be changes in presidents, in governors, in judges, but the Rock will continue to flow just the same.

From all accounts Mr. Learroot is fearful of that great "mine" that Jim Davidson has all ready to spring on the public.

Jeffris has not been forgotten in his race for the congressional nomination and some of the first district papers are quite enthusiastic.

This carnival talk is creating considerable comment and the men who have backed the company in coming to Janesville are severely criticised.

There is an opportunity for some bright alderman to devise a scheme to have all the band concerts held in the court house park this coming summer.

There appears to be no doubt but the rowdy element among the university students are now ashamed of their actions of ten days ago. If they are not the state is for them.

TO STOP FILIBUSTERING.

Cordial approval is to be given to the shrewd and energetic efforts which are being officially made to prevent the smuggling of contraband munitions of war into the Dominican Republic. Reprobation of such mischief making trade with Cuba has hitherto been expressed, and it is to be repeated no less vigorously in the case of Santo Domingo, and in that of Hayti if occasion arises. Our legal relations with those republics differ technically, but the dictates of good morals and of practical common sense are alike in all three cities. It is both wicked and foolish for Americans to aid in any way rebellious uprisings in those countries or to tolerate filibustering operations by their citizens in refuge here.

There is no analogy between these outbreaks and the Cuban revolution. With this latter it was impossible for Americans not to sympathize. While our government, at great pains and expense, did everything in its power to prevent intrusions of the neutral laws, private citizens felt no moral compunctions in supplying the insurgents, so far as those laws permitted, with the means of waging what they regarded as a righteous war against an oppression which was not only previous to the Cubans themselves, but which also was gravely detrimental to American interests. But there is a vast difference between such a struggle and the recurring rivalries between ambitious politicians and military dictators. In these latter no change from an oppressive monarchy to a liberal republic is contemplated, nor any sweeping away of old abuses. It is simply "Amurath to Amurath succeeds." There is nothing gained by the revolution, save personally to the successful revolutionist.

For this country to permit the giving of aid to such conspirators and contestants would be much as though some orderly and responsible citizens were to supply with stones and brickbats quarrelsome boys who were mauling and maiming each other in the street before his house, with a practical certainty that he would be regarded as accountable for their misconduct, and with a strong probability that presently some of the missiles of his own supplying would be shied through his own parlor window, and that he would have, for his own peace and welfare, to take off his coat and stop the row which he himself had fomented.

CUBAN TRADE.

Cuba ranks second in importance in the trade relations of the United States with other American countries. The total trade of the United States with the principal countries of America in the fiscal year 1905 was: With Canada, 203 million dollars; with Cuba, 125 millions; with Brazil, 111 millions; with Mexico, 92 millions, and with Argentina, 39 millions. This places Cuba second at the present time in rank in our trade relations with the countries of America.

While it has been customary in these discussions of the trade of the United States with the principal countries of the world one by one to consider the fiscal year figures, there is a special reason for considering calendar year figures in our trade with Cuba, this reason being that the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba went into effect December 27, 1903, and therefore began its operation practically with the beginning of the calendar year 1904. For this reason this discussion of trade of the United States with Cuba is based upon calendar year figures. The value of merchandise imported into the United States from Cuba in the calendar year 1905, according to figures prepared by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, was $95,557,856, against $57,228,291 in 1903, $31,747,223 in 1900, and $10,233,456 in 1897, in which year our imports from Cuba touched the lowest point. In the last half century. The exports from the United States to Cuba in the calendar year 1905 were valued at $44,569,812, against $22,504,417 in 1903, $26,934,524 in 1900, and $7,296,613 in 1896, in which year they were smaller than in any preceding year in the last half century. In both imports and exports the figures of the year 1905 are larger than those of any earlier year in our trade with Cuba.

Sugar, molasses, tobacco, cigars and fruits are the principal articles forming the imports into the United States from Cuba. By far the largest and most important of these articles is sugar, of which the total importation in 1905 was valued at $72,619,318, and formed 76 per cent of the sugar brought into the United States from foreign countries and 48 per cent of that brought in from all parts of the world, including our own noncontiguous territory. The value of sugar imported from Cuba has increased very rapidly, and while much of this increase has occurred since the reciprocity treaty by which the duty on sugar imported into the United States from Cuba is reduced 20 per cent, the growth is doubtless due also in part to the great increase in production of sugar in that island in 1904 and 1905, as compared with the years in which production was reduced by reason of damage to sugar estates during the period of hostilities which existed in that island.

The value of sugar imports in 1905 was, as already indicated, over 72 million dollars, while that of the calendar year 1903 was 37 millions and that of 1902, 30 millions. Imports of molasses from Cuba in 1905 were valued at $1,097,153, against $1,108,289 in 1903 and $770,593 in 1902. Leaf tobacco imports in 1905 amounted to $1,379,938, against $1,157,975 in 1903 and $9,759,526 in 1902. Cigar imports in 1905 amounted to $3,855,320, against $2,977,924 in 1903 and $2,522,089 in 1902. Fruit importations in 1905 amounted to $1,226,028, of which all but $5,593 represented the value of bananas. Another item of considerable importance in the imports from Cuba is iron ore, of which the value imported in 1905 was $1,537,890, against $1,501,480 in 1903 and $1,576,617 in 1902. The other items of sufficient importance to justify a separate statement by the Bureau of Statistics were, for the year 1905, copper, $55,689; mahogany, $89,204; while under the general group of "all other articles" is included merchandise to the value of $3,456,316.

VESTIBULE STRUCK
BUGGY AT HARVARD

Woman Seriously Hurt and Girl Carried Safely on Engine—Janesville People on Train.

Yesterday morning the vestibule passenger on the North-Western road leaving here for Chicago at 9:20 o'clock struck a horse and buggy as it was pulling into Harvard and two people miraculously escaped death. A woman of a little past thirty and her daughter of about twelve or thirteen years were occupying the rig. The mother was hurled and the little girl was carried along in the buggy top on the pilot of the engine until the train could be stopped. The daughter was not hurt in the least, but the mother received a severe cut on the forehead and other injuries that may prove fatal. The buggy was completely demolished, but the horse escaped, having crossed the rails when the rig was torn from it. Dr. J. R. Whiffen and Frank L. Stevens of this city were aboard the train.

SOME CANDIDATES
COUNT THE COST

Reports Filed with the City Clerk, However, Reveal Few Instances of Lavish Expenditure.

No wild extravagance in the matter of campaign expenses is thus far evident in the itemized reports that have been filed by candidates. Alderman John J. Sheridan of the fourth ward appears to bear the palm in the line of heavy expenditures with $15 for carriages for the primaries; $15 more for carriages for the election; and three separate outlays of $1.25 for cigars. W. H. H. Macdonald, who was a candidate for the republican aldermanic nomination in the same ward, writes with bold pen strokes on the blank furnished for the purpose: "Nothing whatever." Harry G. Carter, successful candidate for the same nomination, writes "Nothing." Frank H. Snyder, candidate for the republican aldermanic nomination in the 2d ward, admits that he paid $1.25 for 500 cards; 60 cents for an announcement; and $2 for a livery rig. Frank M. Britt, elected as supervisor from the fourth ward on the democratic ticket, acknowledges an outlay of $10 for carriages. J. J. Comstock, constable of the second ward, stood an assessment of $3 for carriages. W. E. Dugan, constable of the fifth, paid $4 for carriages and paid a Mr. Sullivan and Patrick Mulcahy $2 each for work at the polls. Halvor L. Skavlen, supervisor from the second, paid to J. L. Bear, treasurer of the campaign fund, the sum of $3. Edward Raher, supervisor from the fifth, paid for a carriage and helper on April 2 the sum of $5. George Root, candidate before the primaries for democratic aldermanic honors in the fifth ward, expended $3 for a carriage. James A. Pathers, city treasurer-elect, paid an assessment of $10 to J. L. Bear, and indulged in cigars twice at an expense of $2 per. W. G. Palmer, republican candidate for school commissioner in the fourth, avers that he expended nothing. Arthur M. Fisher, elected school commissioner at large, paid to D. Conger for circulating nomination papers on Feb. 24 and Feb. 27 the sum of $1 for each time and paid into the hands of the republican city campaign committee for expenses on April 2 the sum of $10. W. A. Murray, candidate before the primaries for the aldermanic nomination in the fifth, paid $4 for livery hire and $3 for labor.

ANNUAL HOME MEETING OF THE LOAN BAND TOMORROW

The Loan Band of King's Daughters will hold their annual home missionary meeting Tuesday evening at 6:15 in the parlors of the Congregational church. Mrs. F. A. Capelle and Mrs. F. H. Farnsworth are to be the hostesses for the evening, while the program is in charge of Mrs. Peter Jamieson. An Easter thank-offering will be made, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the final payment on the "Loan room" at Ashland academy.

PRESS COMMENT.

An Anna Heid Alderman Sheboygan Journal: Like Anna Heid, Ald. Galaway appears to have a "way" with him.

Yes, But How Warm Up? Ashland Press: Better lose no time in establishing confidential relations with your ice dealer.

Certainly a Bum Time. Madison Democrat: If stories be true of the nocturnal orgies the night before election, the police department is in need of investigation. There certainly was a bum time up and down the town.

Abstention. Beloit Free Press: The Free Press abstains from telling the Janesville members of the bar that "we told you so!"

Keep on Reminding Him. Milwaukee Free Press: The best way to keep an alderman straight is for his constituents to let him know that they are watching him.

Waldo Resident's Startling Discovery. Sheboygan Journal: A Waldo resident took her first ride on a railroad train last week. As she traveled over the Fond du Lac division of the Northwestern, she saw little difference between it and the corduroy roads of pioneer days.

Don't Be Impatient. Oshkosh Northwestern: The Janesville Gazette keeps hinting of the "bomb" which Governor Davidson is going to spring. If this "bomb" is to have any effect, however, The Gazette better keep still about it long enough for the people to have a chance to be surprised when it is sprung.

Bryan Rather Than Hearst. Milwaukee Sentinel: William J. Bryan, now in India, will find a curious and perhaps embarrassing situation awaiting him when he reaches New York, homeward bound, a few weeks hence. Some days ago, at the Democratic club dinner, De Lancy Nicoll, after denouncing Hearst as a traitor and a scoundrel, enlabeled Bryan as a loyal democrat, and his speech was endorsed by a unanimous vote of those present. It was evidently a cut and dried affair. As the endorsement came from the party which twice fought Mr. Bryan it was naturally regarded as significant of future political events.

Following the prophetic incident comes the announcement of Part II. in the program; a formal reception to Mr. Bryan by the same element when he reaches New York. Clevelandism, or Parkersim, or "gold bugism," tendering a reception to the former apostle of free silver and the new radical dispensation.

Of course, the explanation is the Hearst portent; the rise of the newer radicalism of Hearstism, which makes Bryanism (with free silver a dead issue) look fairly conservative by comparison. It is not that the Nicolls and Belmonts love Bryan more, but that they love Hearst less; and Hearst threatens to capture the party organization.

After the Parker disaster two years ago it will be radicalism's turn in the convention in 1908; and as between Bryan and Hearst the eastern wing means to choose the lesser evil and the better man. The olive branch will be held out to the western disturber of the peace who split the party into two wings which, as Mr. Tillman feelingly said, "would not flap together."

Seedtime at Hand Again. Madison Journal: Time to begin thinking about Arbor day and the correction of those mistakes you made in gardening last year.

One So Young. Chicago Tribune: Some of the causes for Mr. Becker's election may perhaps raise misgivings in the mind of the political philosopher. The supplying of coffee and sandwiches to firemen in action may, as a campaign argument, seem to the philosopher reminiscent of "bread and games." The theatrical character of Mr. Becker's whole campaign may also cause the philosopher to ponder. So, too, he may ponder over the fact that a city of 300,000 chooses a man of 26 years to organize and guide its complex public life. That task plainly demands a man of large practical experience and of proved executive capacity. Mayor-elect Becker, however, is not to blame for the lack of a republican candidate of that type, nor for the fact that he himself is not a decade older. He made a brilliant fight against an entrenched opponent. May he serve Milwaukee well.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Muskies on Streets: Policemen on their beats last week killed several muskies on Milwaukee and North Main streets. The largest one was dispatched by City Marshal Appleby and Officer Morrissey in front of the People's drugstore.

Lost Two Fingers: Shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon Charles Luock, residing at 363 South Academy street and employed at the Choate-Hollister furniture factory, had his right hand caught by a saw and the index and middle fingers so badly cut that it was necessary to amputate them. The thumb and ring fingers were injured but will be saved.

"Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme": A comedy in three acts, will be presented by a dramatic club of twenty-five members from the Sacred Heart College at Watertown, at the Myers theatre on the evening of April 26, under the auspices of Carroll Council No. 596 of the Knights of Columbus. Francis Ryan, son of Dan Ryan of this city, and John Ryan, son of P. W. Ryan, are members of the cast.

STEADY PATRONS DON'T COMPLAIN

OF THE SERVICE FURNISHED BY JANSVILLE ST. RY.

SUPT. WM. MURPHY TALKS

About Several Aspects of the Business and the Prospects for Extensions This Season.

It is a popular impression that the local street railway gathers its largest harvest on rainy days. Supt. William Murphy, commenting on this erroneous supposition this morning, said that a rainy Sunday like yesterday means a loss of twenty dollars or more in the day's receipts. "No doubt the company fare better on wet weekdays. The business men get their noon meals at the restaurants and the women simply stay at home. A bright day with a special sale on at one of the dry goods stores helps more than the stormiest one in the season. The traffic toward the cemetery on a pleasant Sunday is comparatively a big item."

Why Returns Aren't Large.
Supt. Murphy believes that Janesville has a better street car line than it stands ready to adequately support. The volume of patronage in any city, he argues, depends largely on the number of high priced factory employees and railroad men living within its boundaries. Not the men themselves, particularly, but their families are counted on to keep the register bells ringing. The wife and children of a man who receives $1.50 a day will not indulge in the luxury of a street car ride very often. But the families of railroad men never walk when they can help it and, because of this, the local superintendent is hoping for much better days when the big North-Western terminal and shops in Spring Brook shall have become a reality.

Customers Who Complain.
"Our cars are just as good as the majority of those used in Chicago, and it is only the occasional patron who complains about the service. You will never hear the railroad men or their wives running it down. On account of its exceptional character we have enjoyed a better winter than ever before. The receipts averaged forty dollars a day. If certain things can be done, and always barring accidents, we may make $5,000 during the next twelve months. One accident followed by a lawsuit may knock out the whole year's profits and we have to be on our guard against them all the time. Two-thirds of the litigation in the Chicago courts is concerned with damage suits arising out of street car accidents."

Possible Extensions.
The superintendent said that he did not know that George Blabon of Philadelphia is coming here to take under advisement the proposed extension of the line along Forest Park boulevard from the intersection of Oakland avenue, on Ruger avenue, Liberty street, and thence down Milwaukee avenue to join the Forest Park branch at Jackson street. He was in California a short time ago and expected to stop over in St. Paul on his way back. I hoped that he might stop here and possibly he will. I should like to see the extension, but I would not be willing to guarantee that the additional receipts would be sufficient to cover the added cost of construction and maintenance. The line under a piece of track only last year and there would be additional expenses for operation. An extension to the cemetery, on the other hand, might show direct returns.

Profits on Chautauqua.
"Last year we equally divided our receipts for Chautauqua patronage with the management of the enterprise. We did this to get the thing started. The receipts were about $500; we gave them $250; and our expenses for extra power and labor amounted to over $150. In reality it cost us more than we made out of it. The Chautauqua people will hardly expect us to give any such liberal percentage in the future."

Talks About a Park.
"The Street Car Co. increased the value of land in that locality. Before we got the grounds for the Chautauqua people they were practically worthless for anything except a pasture. Charles Sykes is now holding this real estate at $125 an acre and Mrs. Mole asks $175 an acre for hers. Mr. Sykes is anxious to get a park started there. He was already to lay out a baseball diamond before it was definitely known that Janesville would not be represented in the state league. It is an ideal spot for a park. The bottoms along the river could be rolled, some trees planted, the stream cleaned out and docks built at a comparatively small expense."

Possibility of Sale.
"It is not a part of my business and I do not know what the likelihood may be of the line being sold in the near future. The money invested probably amounts to over $70,000. You know it cost $15,000 to get the franchise from the old horse-car line. I would not be surprised to see the property disposed of say at $50,000. I know absolutely nothing about the matter, but the Janesville Contracting Co. with its new power plant might be in a good position to contemplate the purchase of the property."

Card of Thanks.
We hereby desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends who so thoughtfully rendered assistance during the last illness and death of our beloved wife and mother, and also to acknowledge our grateful appreciation of the sympathy that found expression in the many beautiful floral offerings.

The Apollo Club.
The next concert will be Monday night, April 10. The "Russian" concert will be given Monday night, April 23, with Mrs. Geo. G. McConnell of Chicago as contralto soloist. OGDEN H. FETHERS, President.

CHURCHES REMEMBER CHRIST'S SUFFERINGS

Palm Sunday Observed in Churches Throughout the World Yesterday.

With fitting services commemorative of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem Palm Sunday, the sixth Sunday in Lent and the first day of holy week, was observed in the churches of Janesville and throughout Christendom yesterday. Palm Sunday is so called from the ancient custom of blessing branches of palm trees or of other trees in countries where the palm does not grow. The origin of this celebration is enshrouded in the mists of the fourth century, and the ceremony of the blessing of the branches was probably not adopted until the eighth or ninth century. The popular observance of the day consists of processions with the participants carrying branches and singing the hymn of Venantius Fortunatus, "Gloria, laus, et honor." In Spain and Spanish America it is the custom for a priest to lead, mounted on an ass, followed by the worshippers. Upon returning to the church, the doors of which have been closed in the meantime, a subdeacon knocks and the doors are thrown open while the procession enters. The congregation hold the branches in their hands during the singing of the passion in the solemn mass, and after its conclusion the branches are taken to their homes and preserved during the year. The ashes utilized on Ash Wednesday are those resulting from burning of the palms of the preceding year.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS REOPENED TODAY

ONE CHANGE HAS BEEN MADE IN TEACHING CORPS.

MEDAL CONTEST WEDNESDAY

Five Trophies To Be Competed For—Denison Prize for Essay on Athletics.

Janesville public schools reopened this morning after an Easter intermission of one week. With but few exceptions all teachers and students were back at their work. However, there was one change in the teaching corps. Miss Teresa Baker, who during the past five terms has been acting as clerk at the high school, was made a graded school assistant and assigned to the third and sixth grades of the Lincoln school and the third and fourth of the Jefferson. Miss Ethel Bates, a graduate of the high school in the class of 1904, succeeds Miss Baker at the high school. Miss Bates has been presiding in a district school in the town of Newark during the fall and winter terms of the year and her place is filled by Miss Ethel Soper of Beloit, recently resigned from the Afton graded school faculty. The rural schools of the county have nearly all had their spring vacations, some of one, some of two and others of three weeks. The dates for these are determined by the different teachers, and boards and consequently have varied.

Preparing for Contests.
At the high school teachers and students are busy in preparing for the annual medal contest, which is to be held Wednesday evening of this week at half-past seven o'clock. There will be five separate competitions for five gold medals. Four of these have been awarded each season for the past several years and the fifth is new. This is offered by Rev. R. C. Denison for the scholar writing the best essay on "Athletics in the Schools." The race has been open to all scholars and the one winning will read his composition on the contest program. The same method has been used and will be used for the award of the Mahoney medal for original poetry. The other trophies are: The Loomis medal for declamations, the Recorder medal for extemporaneous speaking, and the Lovejoy medal for orations.

The Contestants.
Those who will compete for the Loomis trophy are: Mayme Spohn, Ethel Dodge, Irma Shoemaker and Florence Spooner, the alternate is Arlene McBride. Those for the Recorder prize are: Jerome Davis, Dalia Soverhill, Earl Brown and William Spohn; the position of alternate was tied for by Harold Jones and Leo Atwood and should either be given a chance to contend for honors a decision will be made by lots. Those for the Lovejoy medal are James Hoague, Cora Hok, William Spohn and Orville Swift.

The pallbearers were James Hanlon of Milwaukee, John Hanlon of Beloit, Michael Hanlon of Delavan, Charles Hanlon of Milwaukee, Robert Murphy of Beloit and Charles Connors of the same place. Interment was in Mount Olivet.

ST. PATRICK'S BOYS TO PLAY BASEBALL

Sixty-Three Young Men and Boys of Age Is To Be Launched by W. H. Merritt and Fred Howe About the Middle of May.

Sixty-five young men and boys of St. Patrick's parish met at the church yesterday afternoon and formed a baseball association. Eighteen were fixed as the age limit and it is expected that by the opening of the season there will be one hundred members. After discussing the matter of putting a team in the field to play nines from nearby cities and informally making a decision in favor of doing so an organization was perfected. Rev. J. J. McGinnity was elected manager, Charles Connors, secretary and treasurer, Herbert Mahoney, captain of the first team, and Robert Erdman, captain of the second team. Another meeting is to be held at the church tomorrow evening and more definite plans for the season made. There is an abundance of good material over sixteen years of age for the first team and no doubt the second team will be very strong. In the first, John Devins is a candidate for the box position and Hall of "Red Sox" fame aspires to the catcher's position. This organization will play aggregations of the same age and will be ready to meet all comers. They expect to begin playing about the first of May.

How Hoppe Won From Slosson

Nervy Young Phenomenon of Billiard World Astonished Experts by His Coolness and Daring Against Veteran of a Hundred Matches.

By WILLIE WEST.

"Youth will be served," said the once mighty John L. Sullivan after losing to Jim Corbett in New Orleans. "The glory of a young man is his strength," says William Jennings Bryan, the famous politician. The achievements of young men have made bright pages in many different kinds of histories, and when the annals of present day billiard playing are written the name of Willie Hoppe, the most sensational cue expert of all time, will adorn them in brilliant letters.

Hoppe's recent victory in New York at eighteen inch balk-line over George Slosson, the noted veteran of thirty-five years' experience, was a remarkable exploit. Hoppe is but nineteen years old, while Slosson is well on toward his fifty-fifth milestone.

Before the match many experts thought that Slosson's long experience, well known generalship and aggravating "safe" playing would win him the victor's purse. But they did not make enough allowance for the wonderful nerve and coolness of the youngster. Hoppe could not be "rattled" in the slightest degree by the veteran's working tactics. He played almost every shot for what it was worth and gave Slosson one of the severest trouncings in his career. Think of the score—500.

GEORGE SLOSSON EXERCISING ONE OF HIS DIFFICULT SHOTS.

to 301! Hoppe led from the thirteenth inning to the finish. His highest run was 50, while Slosson's was 41. The averages of both players were very low, Hoppe's 10 and Slosson's 3½.

In the thirteenth inning Hoppe secured the lead, and from that time on he was never in danger of losing.

Geers' New Pacer.

Expects to Win Grand Circuit Purges With Daughter of the Earl—Gossip.

Ed Geers has over forty head of trotters and pacers in training at Memphis. Of course all of these will not be seen at the races the coming season. Probably by the 1st of July "the silent man from Tennessee" will have weeded out at least half of these, and before the season is very far advanced these will be reduced another 50 per cent. Not so much has been heard of his candidates this year as has been the case in other seasons, but it is reported that he will have something good, as has been the rule year after year. Sometimes it has been a trotter and at other times a pacer.

Last year Geers' star was Walter Direct, but after winning a brilliant victory at Detroit he made but two more starts, winning second money in one of them and being unplaced in the other. It was a great disappointment, for Geers owned an interest in the pacer and had counted on making a clean sweep with him, as he had done with Direct Hal.

This year it is said that his star performer will again be a pacer, a five-year-old mare by The Earl, out of Besie Hal, the dam of Direct Hal; 2:04½. She will be pretty thoroughly searched before a start is made with her, but the indications to date are that she will be the one to be entered down the grand circuit in the slow stakes.

A meeting of the members of the Ohio valley racing circuit was held at Portsmouth, O., recently, and a very strong circuit of half mile tracks was organized and dates assigned as follows: Catlettsburg, Ky., July 25-27; Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 1-3; Portsmouth, O., Aug. 8-10; Wellston, O., Aug. 15-17; Chillicothe, O., Aug. 21-24; Washington Court House, O., Aug. 28-31; Columbus, O., Sept. 2-7; Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 10-14.

All the cities composing this circuit were represented with the exception of Columbus, O., and many matters of importance were discussed and much business transacted that will assist materially in the success of the circuit. It was unanimously decided to adhere strictly to the rules of the National and American Trotting associations, especially so in regard to time. All these cities being within a short distance of each other, horsemen are insured cheap shipments.

The latest ring to be uncovered is the pacer mare Lady Knapp, 2:09½, which was raced in 1904 as Mildred. George ("Dad") Whitney, who was responsible for the deception, has been expelled from the American Trotting association by the board of review.

Before his exposure as a "ringer" of harness horses Whitney, now an old man, had borne a spotless reputation as a driver and trainer. After "ringing" Lady Knapp as Mildred it seems that Whitney raced two other harness horses under assumed names. The inevitable discovery, however, was not long in occurring.

Besides the regular foreign buyers John Splan is known to be buying for the foreign market, and it is rumored that Splan has interested with him in a silent way John E. Madden. Several years ago Mr. Madden paid $10,000 at a public sale for Adbell, 2:23, who was destroyed on account of a broken leg, and last fall he paid a big price for the colt Silko, 2:17½, now at Hamburg place, Lexington, Ky. Madden and Splan recently bought for export, it is thought, the big bay stallion Prince Selma, 2:10½, by Bow Bells, 2:19½, and it is probable that Silko also will eventually find his way across the waters.

New York to Raise World's Championship Baseball Pennant on June 12. Swimmers to Invade England—Runner To bin of St. Louis.

The arrangements were completed recently by John T. Brush, president of the New York baseball club, world's champions, for raising the world's championship pennant. Tuesday, June 12, has been selected as the date and the Cincinnati club will be the attraction in New York on that day. It is proposed to make it an event that will long be remembered. The national commission, composed of H. C. Pulliam, president of the National league; Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league, and August Herrmann of Cincinnati, will be in attendance, as will most of the club officials of the various other organizations and also city officials.

American swimming champions will invade England this summer. C. M. Daniels and Joseph N. Spencer of the New York Athletic club and Marquand Schwartz of the Missouri Athletic club will be entered in the English amateur championships. All three athletes are included in the American team which will compete in the Olympic games at Athens. After the games the trio will visit Vienna, Berlin, Rome and Paris, leaving the latter city in time to take part in the first of the English swimming championships.

Daniels recently established ten records at the Amateur Athletic union swimming championships, at the New York Athletic club, including several English records. When Daniels swam 100 yards in 57 3/5 the English swimming authorities ridiculed the performance, and claimed it was impossible. They refused to recognize the record on the ground that it was made without costume, which is contrary to the English rules. In the Amateur Athletic union championships Daniels wore a costume for the purpose of proving to the British that his previous record was a legitimate one. His time for the 100 yards was 58, which equaled the world's record and materially reduced the best English time. His appearance in England this summer is certain to create a sensation.

Spencer and Schwartz rank close behind the American champion and should do good work in the long distance events.

Edward Tobin is one of the most promising middle distance runners of the middle west. One of his most notable performances was at Kansas City recently, where he won the $50 yard race, defeating O'Flynn, the crack half miler of the Kansas City Athletic club, and Ellis of Missouri university. Tobin ran the distance in the excellent time of 2 minutes 4 3/5 seconds. He is a son of J. E. Tobin, auditor of the Wabash railroad.

Among the twenty-four Rhodes scholars at Oxford university, England, now rowing in the "Torpedos," the name given to the annual races for men who have not rowed in the summer "eights" of the previous year, there are the following Americans, their respective Oxford colleges and the states they are representing in the scholarship games being given in each case.

F. Ardelotte, Brasenose college (Ind.); R. E. Blodgett, Wadham (Mo.); J. A. Brown, New college (N. H.); C. W. Bush, Brasenose (Del.); E. J. Ford, Christchurch (Miss.); R. K. Hack, Oriel (Mass.); H. The Brethren

A Brilliant Romance of the Crusades

By RIDER HAGGARD

Author of "She," "King Solomon's Mines," etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY HEYER

We have secured this magnificent story for our columns and will begin the publication in a few days. We can recommend it to our readers with confidence. As our writer says: "It is a story to be read as much for its gorgeous picture of Oriental life in the camp of Saladin as for the heart-stirring whirlwind of adventurous and romantic incidents with which its pages are crowded. In this tale of a beautiful half-English, half-Moorish girl seized in England by the emissaries of Saladin, and her lovers, the powerful twin brethren who set off to rescue her, Mr. Haggard has interwoven mystery, fighting and the glamour of a far off time more successfully than in 'She' or 'Atlan Quatermain.' With Godwin D'Arcy are knights, strong and chivalrous; real men who make an appeal to the heart of the reader, not the usual costumed manikins of his torial stories."

HAMLIN GARLAND

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HAMLIN GARLAND

"Oh, Rob, I'm glad you're here. Hello, Matt!" He shook hands, breathing heavily. His skin was flushed and his eyes shining. "You ought to be up town. Jack is making 'em sit up. He shot one man. They were building a fort and a drunken fellow."

"Take your time," said Raymond coldly. "There are several minutes left in the box. You might begin at the beginning and tell me why you sneaked away again without saying goodby to Ann?"

"Where have you been all day?"

"I've been with Jack. I met his men way down the canyon, and they took me to headquarters, where I told my story, and then I went to supper with Jack; and then this big row came on, and I stayed to see that. Oh, but Jack is fine! He faced the whole crowd alone. One man wanted to clean out your cabin. He said it was a nest of traitors. He drew his gun on Jack, but he hadn't time to pull the trigger. Jack's bullet went through his arm."

Raymond, who had been studying the lad with softening glance, interrupted him: "Now, see here, Louis, you sit down here by the fire. Don't let your words all try to get out of the corral at the same time. We want to know all about it, but we don't want you to hurry. It's only 10 o'clock, and you can't get over a whole lot of ground by midnight."

The two men looked at each other with grave eyes. The boy was trembling with excitement, and his voice was high and strained.

Kelly said quietly: "My lad, I would serve your sister better if you kept out of this. I don't like to see you riding between the lines as a spy."

"I didn't intend to be a spy, but when I heard the trick they were going to play I couldn't help hurrying back."

"What trick?"

"Why, they're going to load all their men into freight cars and make them keep quiet, and then they're going to run them through Jack's guard at Bogg's clear to the end of the rails."

"That's a very nice plan," said Raymond. "When do they intend to come?"

"Tomorrow night, if the guns arrive for which they are waiting."

"How did you drop on to this?"

"I heard Cousin Don tell Dr. Braille. He wanted Dr. Braille to follow next day in case of accidents."

"You've told this to Jack?"

"Yes, I wanted to come and see you, Matt, but he said I could tell you afterward."

Raymond again looked at his partner. "Well, I don't see that there is anything for us to do now."

"Jack told me to tell you to be on your guard tonight. He said he'd come down and see you if possible. Oh, I feel so cold," he ended, drawing nearer the fire. "I'm all trembly over my chest."

"I reckon you better strip off your clothes and go to bed. This has been a hard day for you."

He seemed stiff, and was shivering convulsively. "I believe I will. Rob, I don't feel any good."

As Raymond helped him to undress the boy's teeth began to chatter, and he drew his breath with a hissing sound. "I guess I've taken an awful cold, Rob. My breast aches so."

"Matt, go ask Nora to come over and bring her little medicine case. This boy's got a chill right now."

"A swallow of whisky will fix that," answered Matt as he went out. "I'll be back in a jiffy."

Raymond bundled Louis into bed and heaped him with blankets and furs, his heart deeply stirred with anxiety for the boy's mind turned from the excitement of his day's experiences to his condition he became deeply depressed. He fairly collapsed.

Mrs. Kelly, with her "omniscient" case of medicine and a knowledge of sickness gained in years of maternal care in the rough country, was a great comfort to Raymond, but she could not keep down his growing anxiety. The boy's body was so small and frail when she stripped of its clothing. Under their vigorous ministrations the sufferer ceased to shiver and at last fell into a hot, uneasy doze.

Raymond, seeing this, whispered: "You must go home. I will watch."

"No, Rob, you must sleep. I forgot you had no sleep last night."

"Oh, yes, I did. I took a nap at Barnett's. Please go to bed."

To this arrangement she submitted, and, taking his seat close by the boy's couch, Raymond studied his flushed face, more concerned at that moment over his temperature and pulse than with the braying crowds, the jangling force or the fate of his mine. When Munro knocked on his door he went out upon the threshold and repeated the failure of his mission, while the captain of the vedettes listened with his horse's rein across his arm. At the end he merely said: "All right. Let them come; they will find us ready. Did the kid turn up all right?"

"He turned up, but he has taken a chill and is burning with fever."

Munro seemed concerned. "He had nothing on but that little gray jacket. I tried to warm him up with some whisky and a supper. I hope he won't be laid up. Well, now, old man, what are you going to do—help us or the connection with Skytown, but that the wire from Bozle to the south is snout. We can't say."

"Tell Don to wire Mr. Raymond that I am coming at once, and that I will bring Dr. Braille if possible," answered Ann, alert and self-contained.

She rang Dr. Braille's telephone a few moments later and called firmly, "Dr. Braille, I want you to go with me to Skytown."

His cool, indifferent voice cut her short. "Who is it, please?"

"It is Ann Rupert."

"Ah!" His voice changed—became swift, eager. "Certainly, certainly. Miss Rupert. I understand. I will be the note about your brother. It will be a privilege. I will run over at once and discuss the best plan for getting there."

Ann was eating her breakfast when the bell rang, and the maid at her order brought the doctor into the dining room.

"I am asking a great deal of you, doctor. I will gladly recompense you for any loss of patients," said Ann.

"Please don't trouble about my patients. It is a pleasure for me to serve you. I beg you not to bring it down to so mercenary a plane."

"That's very kind of you, but I must insist on making it a matter of professional service," replied Ann, for he too, was a doctor, and she liked him, but at this moment she wanted his skill—his training as a physician, not his adoration. This he had, insight enough to perceive.

"We can go by the Southern railway and drive from Sage Flat, or we can go over the stage road. In either case we must meet and pass Munro's guard. According to all accounts, he has a complete circle."

CUBA SECOND IN TRADE LIST

BUSINESS WITH ISLAND REPUBLIC IS GROWING.

IMPORTS SHOW EXPANSION

Bureau of Commerce and Labor Reports Increase of Over $100,000,000 in Shipments to United States Since 1897.

Washington, April 9.—A report issued by the department of commerce and labor on the Cuban trade says:

Cuba ranks second in importance in the trade relations of the United States with other American countries. The total trade of the United States with the principal countries of America in the fiscal year 1905 was: With Canada, $203,000,000; Cuba, $125,000,000; with Brazil, $111,000,000; with Mexico, $92,000,000; and with Argentina, $39,000,000. The value of merchandise imported into the United States from Cuba in the calendar year 1905, according to figures prepared by the department of commerce and labor was $95,857,850, against $87,293,291 in 1903, $107,747,229 in 1900, and $16,233,456 in 1897, in which year our imports from Cuba touched the lowest point in the last half-century. The exports from the United States to Cuba aggregated $14,569,812, against $22,504,417 in 1903, $26,924,524 in 1900, and $7,290,613 in 1897, in which year they were smaller than in any preceding year in the last half-century. In both imports and exports the figures of the year 1905 are larger than those of any earlier year in our trade with Cuba.

Main Articles of Trade.

Sugar and molasses, tobacco, cigars and fruits are the principal articles forming the imports into the United States from Cuba. The value of sugar imports in 1905 was over $47,000,000; molasses $1,087,153; leaf tobacco $1,879,938; cigars $3,855,820; fruit $1,236,028 (of which all but $5,803 represented the value of bananas) and iron ore $1,537,890.

The exports to Cuba include, flour, valued at $3,443,948; cattle $1,983,152; bituminous coal $1,437,776; cotton cloth $1,212,319; boots and shoes $1,586,790; lard $2,231,650; lard compounds $1,005,215; bacon $412,672; hams $468,842; pork $480,938; milk $847,950; lumber $2,001,214. The shipment of rice to Cuba is an entirely new feature in our export trade, the total value of rice sent to that island in 1904 being but $172,707; and in 1903 but $15, while the total for 1905 was $845,049.

By far the largest group of articles in the exports to Cuba from the United States is that of iron and steel manufactures, of which the total in 1905 was $8,434,267.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old-fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured, and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from the fearful depression, so that the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkhams, sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice and there were thousands—received and treated, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work, for its originality passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family—took it up. With women assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

ROBBINS TO OHIO BOSSES

COAL OPERATORS SET BAD EXAMPLE TO ORGANIZED LABOR.

Effort to Control Actions of Individual Employers Inconsistent with Past Contentions.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 9.—Francis T. Robbins, chairman of the board of directors of the Pittsburg Coal company, who is confined to his home in this city as a result of the mental and physical strain he has undergone in the labor controversy with the miners during the past three weeks, has issued a statement in which he says the resolutions adopted by the Ohio Coal Operators' association are not in accordance with the facts. The statement says:

"The interstate movement was not disrupted by me, but terminated Friday, March 30, when a motion was made by Mr. Winder, chairman of the Ohio operators, and seconded by Cal Smith, president of the Illinois Operators' association, that the joint convention adjourn sine die. At no time did I make any effort to place any burden upon any state. I simply asked that in the event of no general settlement being reached, that the miners would permit any operators in any or all states to operate their mines if they wished to do so on the scale of 1903, and thus prevent a general suspension of the mines of the country, which would have been a national calamity.

"The miners did not discuss or take action on my request until the adjournment of the joint convention sine die. "The action of the majority of the Ohio operators in endeavoring to prevent those operators in the state who are ready and willing to sign the scale from operating their mines is a high-handed proceeding, a bad example to their employees and to labor organizations, and is illegal and against public policy. "Those of us who have dealt with labor organizations for years and who have been interested in attempting to bring the employers and employed closer together have always maintained that labor has as much right to organize as capital, but each individual must be permitted to exercise his own rights and must be protected in so doing. And with this in view, if the action of the Ohio operators is to be taken seriously, it shows how inconsistent they are."

HADLEY WILL SOON BE WELL.

Attorney General of Missouri Is Rapidly Recovering from Attack of Pleurisy.

Kansas City, Mo., April 9.—Dr. W. A. Clark, who is attending Attorney General Hadley, after a consultation with two Kansas City physicians, made the following announcement regarding Mr. Hadley's condition:

"After a most thorough examination we all agreed that Mr. Hadley simply had an attack of pleurisy with effusion, which is being absorbed as rapidly as could be expected. He has not now and has not had any symptoms of pneumonia or typhoid fever, and absolutely no indications of a nervous breakdown from overwork. While it may be some time before the fever which is incident to the pleurisy is entirely checked, yet there has been and is now no question as to Mr. Hadley's complete recovery within a reasonable time."

Exchange: The spectacle of Dowling's rise to power is not a greater tribute to the magnetic quality of his presence than the terror of the revolutionists in Zion at the thought of his return. Like a pack of schoolboys who have barred out the master they are in a quiver of apprehension as to what he will do when he comes. If by any possible means he can be made to stay in Mexico they will continue boldly with their work of reorganization, but if he comes back they do not know what they can do, even after the revelation of his extravagance and mismanagement. They are planning to refuse him permission to speak in the tabernacle. The leaders of the revolt say that he will not be condemned unheard, but they say also that he shall not be heard if they can prevent it.

THE DRUGGISTS - TWO STORES

To Investigate is to Invest.

If you question it, come in—we'll knock your doubts into smithereens. We like the trade of people who feel that money is not made to be squandered—who insist that every penny must do its work.

We are neither too busy, too vain, nor too independent to acknowledge the existence of competition; but when you compare our qualities and our prices with those offered you elsewhere, we are benefited and you gain.

Is it a buggy you are thinking of? Don't wait until you actually need it. Come in and look over our line. We have them in all varieties and at prices to fit your pocketbook. Some with piano bodies, others with corning bodies. End spring or side spring gears. With big, comfortable seats and plenty of leg room.

As to catalogue house offers, bring in your catalogues. We will meet or beat their prices. Here you see what you buy before you put up your money. We are here to right every wrong and they are not.

Investigate—and that includes a visit to our establishment.
